Confirmed, we have not restored any account capabilities yet for any account that we've actioned. I've included a spreadsheet with the accounts and amounts we're currently holding related to the parties named in the court order.

Hi Dan —

Apologies for the delay, I am currently flying from Dallas to our San Francisco office and have been delayed by wintry weather. I had followed up with our Canada team overnight to get crystal-clear guidance on this, as I had seen a de-escalation in the news, and wanted to ensure we had accurate information to relay to Stripe.

The Emergency Measures Order restrictions are being eased and all the subject names associated with that order no longer need to be frozen/blocked (ie. names on the Subject Parties Lists we had been providing to you over the last week). That said, the original Ontario Court Order is still in place. The list of names provided below are from the original Ontario Court Order to which Stripe confirmed the original CAD3.8m was associated with.

Based on this, we will not be releasing those funds but want to provide the direction to Stripe that ongoing subject requirements are still in place/required.

HSBC Bank Canada would like Stripe to confirm the funds still frozen by the Ontario Court Order. Would you be able to provide a breakdown of funds held for the following names in the -008 suffix account at HSBC Canada:

- The Freedom Convoy 2022 GiveSendGo campaign
- Adopt-a-Trucker GiveSendGo campaign
- Chris Garrah

- Incorporated Freedom 2022 Human Rights and Freedom Association
- Freedom 2022 Human Rights and Freedoms” (Canadian corporation number 1372685-1). and its directors, officers, employees or designates, including the following individuals:
 - o Chad Eros
 - o Miranda Gasinor
 - o Sean Tiessen
 - o Tamara Lich
 - o Chris Barber
 - o Chris Garrah
 - o Benjamin Dichter

Please let me know if you have any questions, or believe the guidance above is not sufficient to meet your needs from an operational perspective.

Hi all, I assume that everyone has seen the news regarding the revocation of the Emergencies Act. We're consulting outside counsel on our end, but wanted to get a sense from this group as to how it will impact the actions we've already taken regarding frozen funds. Will there be an appeals process to get those funds released?

Thanks Andrew. Am I correct in assuming that all of these platforms use Stripe Connect for the direct disbursement of funds to campaign beneficiaries from HSBC Canada (ie. the funds do not go via the platforms themselves)?

For your awareness, below is the link to the public announcement from the RCMP which I alluded to over the weekend, which was posted today. It makes a reference to the CAD3.8m we reported as frozen, but does not name neither Stripe nor HSBC.

“So far, this effort has culminated in the freezing of 219 financial products; the disclosure of 57 entities; the addresses of 253 Bitcoin shared with virtual currency exchangers; and, the proactive freezing of the account of a payment processor for a value of $3.8M by a financial institution. We continue to work at collecting relevant information on persons, vehicles and companies, and remain in daily communication with the financial institutions to assist them.”

Hi Dan –

I appreciate the updates and great to hear the progress you're making.

I have started a conversation with our Global policy team to define clear and transparent guidelines for supportability of Stripe's crowdfunding platform users via HSBC rails globally. This is part of our wider effort to simplify your experience with HSBC, on the heels of a recent senior management collaboration workshop. To help me achieve the best outcome for Stripe, may I trouble you for a quick confirmation on the following:

1. Crowdfunding Funds Flow – Can you please confirm that the attached funds flow via Stripe in Canada is generally correct (see PDF)? Amounts are merely illustrative and obviously exclude some fees in the process. The idea is to show the general flow from A to Z.
2. Other crowdfunding platforms at SPCL – Besides GoFundMe and GiveSendGo, does SPCL currently provide payment processing for any other (smaller?) crowdfunding platform in Canada?

Thanks!

Hi Team –

Starting a smaller thread to share operational updates over the weekend and beyond, as we shift to more of a BAU mode. Let's keep the dialogue going, even if via short/informal 'need-to-know' tidbits.

Stripe confirmations today (Fri 2/18):

- Stripe has screened against the Subject Parties Lists v1 + v2, and is continuing the effort
- Identified 94 true matches in Stripe accounts, with the majority of them actioned already
- Total current amount held by SPCL on behalf of subject parties: CAD 3,788,418 (as of 2/18/22)
- SPCL is now registered with FINTRAC, with follow-up meeting scheduled for Monday to walk them through Stripe controls
- Stripe last processed a transaction on 2/11/22 for the 'Adopt-A-Trucker' page on GiveSendGo; appears to be handled by another processor now (link: <https://www.givesendgo.com/warroomcanadanet>)
- Transfer of funds to segregated account will occur once process is ironed out

Latest Subject Parties Lists:

- Attached v4 list is the latest in HSBC's possession (includes v1 + v2 + v3 names)
- Ben Palmer and/or Geoff Noftall (HSBC Canada) to provide future list updates directly via this thread (until Stripe starts receiving them directly via FINTRAC)

If there is an update that's easier and faster to share verbally, we're happy to hop on Zoom at short notice.

Have a great weekend!

Thanks,

Bojan Savanovic
